King, Queen to Be Crowned At Mardi Gras Dance Tonight

Voting and campaigning will continue today for the honor of wearing the crowns of the Mardi Gras King and Queen. Students will choose a king and queen from the slate provided by the various living groups on campus. The final selection will be the announced tonight at 11 p.m., general chairman

Jim Johnson, Helena, said.

Students began voting yesterday morning in the Lodge. Voting ends tonight at 6 p.m. The king and queen will receive gifts donated by Newman Club, sponsor of the semi-formal affair.

Campaigning began in the middle of the week and will be climaxed this noon with a noise parade down Gerald and University avenues. All participants will meet behind the old Missoula County high school at 12:30 p.m. Supporters of various candidates have handed out balloons, valentines and spoons, have placed want ads in the classified section of the Kaimin, and have even offered to make contact with the late James Dean as a vote-getting gimmick.

Living groups will operate games and concessions in the Cascade Room of the Lodge from 9 to 12 p.m. Included in the booths lining the dance floor are miniature golf, bingo, fortune telling, pie throwing, a white slave sale, and a circus ride. A change booth will be near the door so that students may purchase tickets for the concessions.

Dancing will be to the music of the King's Men from 9 p.m. until midnight.

Admission is 50 cents per person.

University to Mark 66th Year With Charter Day Convocation

MSU will commemorate its 66th birthday Tuesday with the annual Charter Day Convocation to be held in the University Theater at 9:40 a.m.

The main speaker of the program will be Russel Smith, associate of the Missoula law firm of Smith, Boone, and Rimel. Smith, a 1931 MSU graduate, has not named his topic.

Smith will be introduced by Rulon Jeppesen, chairman of the Physics Dept., who is master of ceremonies.

Acting President Gordon B. Castle will also make brief remarks.

Musical entertainment for the convocation will be by the University A Capella Choir, directed by Joseph Mussulman, and the MSU Brass Ensemble, under the direction of James Eversole.

Because of the convocation Tuesday morning classes have been re-

Dorothy Johnson Will Be Honored At Theater Dinner

Preceding the public showing of "The Hanging Tree" here Feb. 18, Dorothy M. Johnson will be the guest of honor at a dinner sponsored by the Missoula Community Theater.

The dinner, to be held in the Bitterroot room of the Hotel Florence, will be concluded in time to permit those in attendance to see the second showing of "The Hanging Tree" at the Fox Theater.

"We feel that Dorothy Johnson has brought tremendous honor and glory to Missoula and Montana because of her fine story and its film dramatization," said Shirley Smuin, chairman of the dinner and program committee.

Following a private showing of the film to the University faculty last week, Miss Johnson expressed her delight with what the movie makers had done with "her people" and felt that she had been fortunate with regard to the casting of the main roles. The movie stars Gary Cooper, Maria Schell, Karl Malden and Ben Piazza.

Manning, Eversole To Present Recital

William Manning, clarinetist, and Sylvia Eversole, pianist, will perform in a music school faculty recital Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the School of Music Recital Hall.

The soloists will be assisted by cellist Florence Reynolds, associate professor of music.

Included in the program will be works by Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and Leonard Bernstein.

The recital is open to the public without charge.

MSC Players Open Tonight With 'Inherit the Wind'

"Inherit the Wind," presented by the Montana State College theater arts department, opens tonight at 8:15 in the University Theater.

The play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee is a long-run Broadway success that dramatizes the Scopes "monkey-trial" that drew world attention to the town of Dayton, Tenn., in 1925.

Actual names and places involved in the trial over whether a school teacher should be free to discuss Darwin's theory of evolution with his pupils have been changed in the play.

Defense lawyer Clarence Darrow is called Henry Drummond, and will be played by Lanny Ludwig of Martin City. His opponent, William Jennings Bryan, called Mathew Harrison Brady, will be played by Joseph Fitch of the MSC theater faculty. Defendant John Thomas Scopes is called Bert Cates and will be played by Bruce Jacobson of Bozeman.

The Rev. Jeremiah Brown, a revivalist, is played by Duane Hagen of Bozeman and the mayor of Dayton, called Hillsboro, by George Hall of Deer Lodge. Davenport, the district attorney, is Larry Daw of Hamilton and the judge is played by Bryce Missall of Warwick, New York. Charles E. Billings of the theater faculty faculty is director. There are 29 other members in the cast.

Tickets are 50 cents for students

Madrigal Singers To Give Concert Tuesday at Noon

Patricia Barendsen, instructor in music and director of the group, will lead an open discussion on the history and musical structure of madrigal music.

A second discussion on the lyrical quality of the madrigal type work will also be included. This will be led by Robert Charles, assistant professor of English.

All persons interested are invited to attend.

Forestry Convo Not to Be Held In Class Hours

The Public Exercises Committee, in a meeting yesterday, denied the Forestry Club permission to present its convocation during class hours.

The Forestry Club submitted a petition to the committee three weeks ago asking for permission to present its convocation on the morning of March 3 or 4.

Rulon Jeppesen, professor of physics and chairman of the committee, said the club may hold its convocation either in the afternoon or evening, so long as it does not conflict with University class hours. The Forestry Club convocation last year was presented in the evening.

Anne Morrison, one of the committee's three student members, said spokesmen for the foresters attended the last three committee meetings to present their case.

They requested, last week, that the committee's decision be postponed until this week's meeting. The closing statements in defense of the petition were made yesterday and the matter was voted upon.

Jeppesen said he hopes none of the committee members will feel any repercussions concerning the decision. The action should be thought of as a decision of the committee rather than of individual members, he said.

Activities to Honor Language Week Set by Department

The Department of Foreign Languages will begin its observance of National Language Week by sponsoring a tea Monday from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Silver Bow Room of the Lodge.

The tea is sponsored annually by the department for foreign students, the ASMSU Foreign Student Committee and the language teachers from the Missoula high schools and grade schools.

This year, for the first time, students in all language classes may attend.

This is an opportunity to meet and entertain foreign students, Patricia Nonnenmacher, instructor of foreign languages and chairman of the tea, said.

National Foreign Language Week runs Monday through Sunday, Feb. 22. It is sponsored by Alpha Mu Gamma, national foreign language honorary. Its purpose is to bring the importance of foreign language study to as great a number of people as possible.

A departmental variety program open to students and townspeople will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 304 of the Journalism building. Each language will be represented through slides, group singing and records.

A panel of foreign language students will present a program at Missoula County High School, South Avenue building, Thursday from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m. The panel will explain the significance of foreign language study for American students.

"WE COULD PUT YOU IN WITH UPPERCLASSMEN — BUT WE LIKE OUR FRESHMEN TO GET OFF TO A GOOD START."

How Free A Press?

The question of how much freedom the Montana Kaimin should have in its editorial voice is one which has come before Central Board within the last week, and one which deserves deep consideration today as Publications Board interviews applicants for positions on the 1959-1960 Kaimin staff.

Central Board, at its meeting Tuesday, adopted a resolution which in effect only reaffirms the long-existing policy of control over student publications. Since the Kaimin's legal publisher is the Associated Students, ASMSU must be responsible for infractions of libel and obscenity restrictions. The Publications Board Statement of Policy clearly points this out, also stating in broad terms the responsibilities of the student press.

As Dean Andy Cogswell pointed out at Central Board Tuesday, however, student government must not move to limit the editorial freedom of the press. This is especially essential in an academic community. Dean Cogswell pointed out that although he has frequently disagreed with the Kaimin's editorial judgments, he would disagree even more with any move to restrict press freedom. Dean Cogswell is to be thanked for his calm reasoning at a meeting which was not always equally calm.

The issue has been stated plainly in a declaration adopted last summer by the United States National Student Assn., representing the thinking of student leaders from campuses across the nation. That resolution read in part:

"The aim and obligations of the student press cannot be fully achieved unless its independence from all forms of external interference or censorship is maintained inviolate and complete.

"Although in many college communities the student press is owned by an organization other than itself, it is essential that in an academic community the press must be free from control of content stemming from the claims of ownership.

"Within the legal restrictions of civil or criminal laws against libel, pornography, or indecency, and within the limits of the consciences of the editors, the student press shall be free from control by student government, school administration and all other administrative civil agencies.

"The student press should be free from all types of direct or indirect financial pressure, reprisal or threat thereof from student government groups, university or college faculty, or administrative authorities.

"The student press shall be free to present articles concerning controversial matters and to comment freely, providing a forum for free expressions."

This statement seems a clear definition of the proper relationship between Central Board, Publications Board and the Kaimin. Publications Board itself has had a proud tradition in many years of coming to the Kaimin's defense in the face of those who would be censors.

As Publications Board interviews applicants for the editorship of next year's Kaimin this afternoon, any personal feelings which exist among its members should be set aside in the best interests of preserving the editorial independence of the Kaimin, a tradition which the campus can ill afford to lose.

Signed articles on this page do not necessarily represent the opinions of the Montana Kaimin. All letters should be kept brief, and should be in the Montana Kaimin office by 2 p.m. the day preceding publication. The editor reserves the right to edit all material submitted for publication.

State Department to Consider Mansfield Germany Proposal

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—The state department promised yesterday to give "careful attention" to a Democratic senator's proposal for direct talks between East and West Germany in a bid to hasten German unification and reduce tensions.

The idea was advanced by Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (Mont.) as part of a nine-point plan to keep the Berlin crisis from leading the United States "down the blind alley of an unnecessary conflict or disastrous diplomatic defeat."

The West German government promptly rejected the idea of direct negotiations with the East German Communist regime. But state department spokesman Lincoln White said the department would give careful scrutiny to Mansfield's proposals and "other suggestions that may be put forward."

Mansfield, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, also called for United Nations conciliation in the Berlin situation, Allied and Soviet security guarantees for any unified Germany and consideration of proposals for a demilitarized zone in middle Europe.

"We are approaching the beginning of the end, the beginning of the end of two Berlins and two Germanies," Mansfield said in a senate speech. He said a policy of "standing fast" in Berlin was not enough.

"It is an excuse for immobility that could lead to either war or a crushing diplomatic defeat," he added.

Although White's promise of "careful attention" covered all the Mansfield proposals, the senator's call for direct talks between East and West Germany appeared to stir up chief interest in diplomatic circles.

The state department has insisted in the past—and still insists as far as the official record is concerned—that German unification is the responsibility of the four major allied powers who crushed the Nazis in World War II.

Brass Ensemble Plans "Operation Bootstraps"

"Operation Bootstraps" is underway to raise funds to send the University's Brass Ensemble to a music educators convention in Seattle. The students and faculty of the fine arts department are organizing for "Some Enchanted Evening," an all-school concert to be presented in the University Theater Sunday, Feb. 22, at 8:15 p.m.

The concert will feature the Brass Ensemble, the Jubileers, Opera Workshop, Ballet Theater, Blue Hawks, Chamber Band, the Overtones, and solos from the music school.

The goal of "Operation Bootstraps" is $500 which will enable the Brass Ensemble to accept the invitation from the Northwest Division Convention of the Music Educators National Conference for the ensemble to perform in Seattle March 4 to 7. The Brass Ensemble consists of 23 musicians under the direction of James A. Eversole.

Arrangements are being made for various MSU music groups to appear at luncheon meetings of Missoula service clubs during the coming week to help stimulate interest in the concert, Eversole said.

DOROTHY JOHNSON'S GREAT NOVEL

A Tremendous Weapon

Giants' Rigney Wants Spitball

Bill Rigney, manager of the San Francisco Giants, wants the controversial spitball pitch legalized. He contends that four active National League pitchers (Lew Burdette of Milwaukee, Elroy Face of Pittsburgh and Marv Grissom and Sal Maglie of St. Louis) are throwing the outlawed spitball.

In a copyrighted article in a national magazine (Parade), Rigney wrote, "Every one of these pitchers, in a clutch situation, will throw what a first looks like a fast curve. But unlike the curve ball, it is spinning very slowly. And as it reaches the plate—suddenly, like no other pitch you've seen—it breaks down. It is so obviously a spitter it might as well have a long ribbon marked spitball trailing behind it.

"Today, with batters wearing helmets, there is little danger that an accidental beaming will cause serious injury. With this danger gone, it's only fair to give the spitball back to the pitchers. It's a tremendous weapon."

BITS NOOK

Dan Balko ranks eighth in individual scoring in the Skyline standings with a respectable 14.3. Wyoming's Tony Windis and Bob Ipsen of Utah State are way out of reach. Windis has 28.2 while Ipsen has 23. Terry Screnar is 18th, but one must remember Terrible Terry is only a sophomore and that he is just beginning to hit his scoring stride.

Freshman halfback Tony Ramos from Lawrence, Mass., is wearing a big smile these days. His wife and child just arrived from Germany. Tony and the missus were married in Germany when he was stationed there, and he hadn't seen them for nearly a year.

Gary Homme from Fort Benton is not only a fine football prospect, but he is also being groomed for next year's swimming team.

Tackles John Dixon from Spokane and Gary Kennedy from Hamilton may rejoin the Grizzlies in spring football practice. Both sat out last season with neck injuries.

Which recalls that many interested students are working out in the gym in preparation for spring football training. Coach Ray Jenkins said any student who could benefit the team would be considered for an athletic scholarship this fall.

Ed Chinske feels this year's golf team is going to be good. He's got lettermen Joe Boboth of Great Falls, Fred Jewell of Missoula, Tom Jensen of Michigan City, Indiana, Buck Bundhund of Williston, North Dakota, and several other bright prospects.

Big Upset in Making

Grizzlies Seek Utah's Scalp

The Grizzlies will be out for revenge tonight when they encounter the Utah Redskins at 8 p.m. in the Einar Nielson Fieldhouse in Salt Lake City.

Montana, after leading by 11 points at half time in a previous game at the Field House, fell apart in the second half and lost by two points, 71 to 69. Nor are the Grizzlies likely to forget that Utah's present Skyline victory streak of 14 games began here last year.

There could be a psychological advantage on the side of the Silvertips—last year they won their first game in the Ute's camp.

The "Tips" have jelled into a good offense and defense club over the past several games. Coach Frosty Cox has found the five starters and he has plenty of punch on the bench.

Montana offense is still slightly weak as far as statistics are concerned, but if recent games are any indication, a big upset can be in the making tonight.

Hockey Arrives On MSU Campus

Montana's fastest growing sport—hockey—appears to have a firm foothold on the campus of Montana State University, and the "invasion" of growing numbers of Canadian students to MSU indicates that the rink game will continue to grow in popularity at the University and throughout the state.

And the MSU hockey team, known as the Bruins, is spearheading a drive to establish the game at MSU. The influx of Canadian students, mostly from Alberta, brought about the organization of the Bruins last fall.

They managed to borrow old football jerseys from the athletic department and also acquired the coaching service of Sam Elfenson, former Detroit Olympics player. Elfenson, an insurance salesman, moved to Missoula during the organization period.

"He got here just about the time we needed a coach," was the comment of Bruin publicity chairman Bob LeBlanc, Boston, Mass. LeBlanc also proposed the name of Bruins in honor of his home-town favorites, the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

The Bruins have played three out-of-town games to date, dropping 10 to 4 and 13 to 3 decisions to the tough Great Falls Americans and shellacking Montana Mines by a 19 to 2 margin.

To make the Great Falls trip the players had to chip in to pay some of their expense, although the MSU student governing body, Central Board, allocated $100 to the fledgling squad.

Following the battles with the Americans, the Bruins broke up briefly to play hockey for home-town teams during the Christmas vacation, but quickly reorganized when winter quarter started at the University.

Future plans are somewhat uncertain, although LeBlanc said the Bruins are still negotiating with Montana State College for a game at Butte. The difficulty still revolves around securing time at the rink.

Tankmen Sweep Easy Victory

The Grizzly swimming team loafed to an easy 52 to 24 victory over the Eastern Washington college swimmers last night at the MSU pool.

The University tankmen took first place in seven of 10 events.

There was no doubt as to the outcome after the first event, the 400 yard medley relay. The only events the Grizzlies didn't dominate were the 50-yard freestyle, the diving, and the 100 yard free style.

This was the third victory for the MSU team over the Savages, and the seventh straight victory of the season against no losses.

CHEVY'S NEW HI-THRIFT 6

More miles are back in a gallon of regular-grade gas—up to 10% more—and Chevy's new Hi-Thrift 6 engine puts them there. It also gives you more "git" in the speeds you drive the most.

Here's an engine that always seems able to coax extra miles out of a tank of regular-grade gas. In fact, if you're one of those drivers who keep tab on things like gas mileage, you'll soon see for yourself that this new Hi-Thrift 6 gets up to 10% more miles a gallon.

Another thing you'll like about this 135-h.p. 6 is the extra pep it gives you for passing and climbing hills. This is due to higher torque at normal speeds.

It may be hard to believe anything that looks and moves like this '59 Chevy can be such a stickler for economy. But—whether you pick the Hi-Thrift 6 or a vim-packed V8—this is just one more reason Chevy's the car that's wanted for all its worth. Stop by your dealer's and see.

GOP's Take Modern-Day Lessons from Life of Lincoln

By United Press International

Republicans found lessons in the life of Lincoln Thursday on how to fight back from defeat and how to support President Eisenhower's stand on civil rights legislation and the battle of the budget.

These themes were conspicuous in Republican oratory at hundreds of party dinners observing the 150th birthday of Abraham Lincoln, first Republican president and patron saint of the GOP.

There were reminders that Lincoln came back from defeat in the 1858 senatorial election to win the presidency in 1860.

At Boston, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said the GOP stood solidly with all Americans on the issue of personal freedom. He said the most direct application of Lincoln's principles today was in the field of civil rights and that these rights still were being denied to some American citizens.

Believed in Personal Rights

"Lincoln, in defeat, got his strength to go forward from a belief in personal rights," Mitchell said. "We can do the same."

At New York, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said modern Republicanism "is Lincolnian Republicanism brought up to date."

"Such Republicanism is based on a passion for equality of opportunity without regard to race color, creed, origin or ancestry and proposes that the federal government shall have the responsibility to assure civil rights for all the people," Javits said.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a Chicago luncheon audience the GOP could go back to Lincoln in assessing causes for its defeats last November.

Quotes Lincoln Speech

He quoted an 1859 Lincoln speech at Chicago warning against allowing differences over "minor or separate points" to interfere with united action on agreed Republican principles.

At Exeter, N. H., Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) urged a national debate in the Lincoln tradition. He said the great issues facing the country were inflation, the danger of excessive government spending, a trend toward socialization and more centralized government and the challenge of international Communism.

Bridges said the Democratic-controlled congress had increased federal spending for non-defense purposes since 1954 by 71 per cent and the pressure was on for still more.

At Los Angeles, Senate Republican Whip Thomas H. Kuchel said

Lincoln's GOP was the "forward looking party of 1860" and that the party must maintain that image to escape defeat now.

Lawyers to Visit State Legislature In Helena Monday

Law school classes will be dismissed Monday so that law students may travel to Helena to see the Supreme Court and State Legislature in action. The trip is sponsored by Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

Students will visit the House, Senate, and Supreme Court. Of special interest to the future lawyers will be the appearance of Missoula County Attorney Anthony Keast before the Supreme Court. Keast will argue a writ of mandamus concerning a public utility district for Missoula county.

Arranging the trip are Phi Delta Phi president Bill Jones, Miles City; Mel Ryan, Missoula; and James Sorte, Scobey.

MEN ARE ADULTS

DES MOINES, Iowa —(UPI)—Republicans and Democrats joined forces today to defeat the so-called spouse consent section of Iowa's right-to-work law.

The legislators feel that an adult man shouldn't have to have his wife's permission to have his union dues deducted from his pay check.
